Comparing Old With New

On a separate sheet of paper, draw Venn diagrams to compare and contrast the tractor with man or horse power, the new with the old plow, the combine with the sickle and the flail and the seed drill with broadcasting by hand.

New

tractor

chisel plow

A tractor is a vehicle that has large rear wheels or moves on tracks and is used especially for pulling farm implements. In the old days the farmer had to use his own power. Later machines were invented that could be pushed or pulled by horses and other animals.

The chisel plow loosens and aerates the soil. The chisel plow was invented by Oklahoman Fred Hoeme. The plow is pulled through the soil by a tractor. In the old days plows had to be pushed by the farmer. Later plows were invented that could be pulled by horses, mules or oxen.

sickle

threshing with a flail

combine

A combine is a machine that harvests, threshes, and cleans grain while moving over a field. Some Oklahoma crops harvested with a combine are wheat, oats, rye, barley, corn, and soybeans. In the old days the farmer had to cut the grain with a scythe or sickle and thresh it with a flail.

broadcasting seed by hand

seed drill pulled by tractor

A seed drill is used for planting seeds in the soil. In the old days seed was broadcast, or scattered, by hand.

The Story of Milk

Cows that are well cared for produce wholesome, healthy milk. The dairy farmer keeps the cows healthy by making sure they have plenty of green grass or hay to eat.

Every morning and evening the farmer milks the cows. Some farmers milk their cows by hand. Others use milking machines. The farmer will sell the cows' milk to a milk processing plant.

After the farmer milks the cow, he cools it and stores it in a stainless steel tank. The milk stays in the tank until it is time for it to go to the milk processing plant.

When it is time to take the milk to the processing plant, a stainless steel tank truck comes to the farm and pumps the milk from the cooling tank. The truck's tank keeps the milk cool during the trip to the processing plant.

When the milk arrives at the processing plant, workers take it and make it into many delicious, healthy things to eat. Some of the milk goes into the cartons your parents buy at the store. The rest is made into things like butter, cheese, ice cream and cottage cheese.
